Holistic Transformation Model

Spiritual	Social
Spiritual transformation takes place when Christians are able to become integrated into a community, teaching biblical principles and their Source to those they live, work, and recreate among. People are changed through the saving power of Jesus, and lives are transformed through opportunities to share the words and life of Jesus within all aspects of community life. By partnering with local churches and ministries, Christians are able to further the advancement of the gospel in their communities.	Social transformation takes place when Christians are intentional about making an investment in the local community. Following the example of Jesus, Christians should strive to not only meet the community's spiritual needs, but its physical needs also. Christians can affect the moral cultural environment of their community by being present, visible and engaged.
Economic	Environmental
Economic transformation takes place when Christians are intentional about contributing financial resources to their community in order to affect the economic well-being of those they are in community with. By supporting the community with financial means, Christians meet legitimate needs that can open doors to sharing the gospel that may otherwise be closed.	Environmental transformation takes place when Christians recognize and are intentional about their personal responsibility as stewards of God's creation. In caring for the environment, Christians are caring for the means by which God provides for his creation as well as one of the many ways that God chooses to reveal himself to humankind. Through becoming faithful stewards of creation, Christians are presented with a multitude of opportunities to share the gospel in more practical ways.
